++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely mild and cloudy.

Today:
A cloudy and mild day for many. The cloud thick enough to produce the odd spot of light rain and drizzle here and there. Winds largely remaining light but with a gentle breeze around coasts. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Brief clear intervals in the evening, but cloud and outbreaks of light rain spread across the region overnight, clearing in the early hours. Turning breezier as the rain moves through. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Sunday:
A good deal of sunny intervals present on Sunday. Staying dry in the east but showers feeding into the west. Feeling noticeably colder, particularly in blustery winds along coasts. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
A cold start on Monday with continued strong coastal winds but staying dry with sunny intervals. Somewhat cloudier on Tuesday and Wednesday, with temperatures rising a touch closer to average.
